This notice announces the opportunity to apply for funding under the Rural Health Network Development (RHND) Program. The purpose of the RHND Program is to support integrated health care networks who collaborate to achieve efficiencies; expand access to, coordinate, and improve the quality of basic health care services and associated health outcomes; and strengthen the rural health care system as a whole.

HRSA intends for the RHND Program to address gaps in service, enhance systems of care, and expand capacity of the local rural health care system. The RHND program was created in response to the need for rural providers to address changes taking place in the health care sector in order to better serve their rural communities. Furthermore, integrated health care networks are an important component of health care service delivery and system reform. Many rural providers have historically worked together to address these challenges by creating networks that foster collaboration and coordination, and address structural challenges inherent in rural health care delivery, resulting in reduced burden and costs on the rural health care system. The RHND Program will focus on the following four program domains: I.) Improve access: by addressing gaps in care, workforce shortages, better workflows and/or improving the quality of health care services II.) Expand capacity and services: by creating effective systems through the development of knowledge, skills, structures, and leadership models III.) Enhance outcomes: by improving patient and/or network development outcomes through expanding or strengthening the network's services, activities or interventions IV.) Sustainability: by positioning the network to prepare for sustainable health programs through value-based care and population health management. The RHND Program encourages innovative strategies to address health care needs identified by local communities and supports rural communities in preparing for changes within the evolving health care landscape. The program creates an opportunity for rural health networks to work collaboratively to adapt to the emerging trends in rural healthcare, and meet the unique needs of the rural communities they serve. While the RHND Program provides the opportunity for community specific programs, applicants should consider addressing the key priorities of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) within their programs: readiness for the next public health emergency, health equity, mental health, and value-based care.<sup>1</sup> The program encourages applicants to include populations that have historically suffered from poorer health outcomes, health disparities, and other inequities, as compared to the rest of the rural population. Examples of these populations include, but are not limited to, racial and ethnic minorities, homeless populations, pregnant women, disabled individuals, youth and adolescents, etc. HRSA recommends your network members consist of a broad array of organizations from both traditional and non-traditional health care entities. Diverse network members may include cross-sector entities such as behavioral health organizations, critical access hospitals, rural health clinics, community-based and social service organizations, colleges and universities and tribal organizations. Using the strength of diverse membership, the network should consider its service delivery approach to addressing pertinent rural health issues, such as hospital bypass rates and value-based care, in order to meet the program domains and effect long-term change.

Systems of Care Approach One way applicants can improve access and enhance outcomes is through creating a systems of care approach. For the purposes of this program, systems of care is defined as a service delivery approach that uses community partnerships to create a coordinated array of broad and flexible services. The network, led by a core set of principles and values, will work together with the community to create or improve upon equitable systems, workflows and strategies to improve health outcomes (more information can be found in the background section).

Who can apply

Eligible applicants include domestic public or private, non-profit or for-profit entities, including faith-based, community-based, tribes and tribal organizations. The applicant organization may be located in a rural or urban area, but must have demonstrated experience serving, or the capacity to serve, rural underserved populations. The applicant organization should describe in detail their experience and/or capacity to serve rural populations in the Project Abstract section of the application. The applicant organization may not previously have received an RHND award (other than a grant for planning activities) for the same or a similar project. However, existing recipients that (1) seek to expand services or expand their service areas, (2) include new or additional network member organizations, or (3) target a new population or new focus area are eligible to apply.

Dear Senators and Congresspeople,

We are writing as representatives of Oregon Counties to request your help in delaying implementation of the NOAA-NMFS Biological Opinion now part of the National Flood Insurance Program in the State of Oregon (Oregon NFIP BiOp or BiOp) (NWR-2011-3197). This Oregon BiOp concludes that FEMA's implementation of the NFIP in Oregon is causing jeopardy to numerous ESA-listed fish species and/or the destruction or adverse modification to their designated critical habitat in Oregon.

We are writing to you now to ask for your help. Efforts to implement this BiOp have been ongoing for more than 6 years. Over that time, FEMA and NMFS have rolled out three different implementation plans – none of which address the fundamental errors and deficiencies in the BiOp's analysis and conclusions. Amongst those errors and deficiencies are the BiOp's failure to consider existing regulations and programs in Oregon that address and/or mitigate many of the concerns laid out in the BiOp.

FEMA has not adequately engaged local governments in the discussion of development of these new rules. FEMA has not considered how local governments are already acting to protect endangered species and their habitats, and instead has proposed "one size fits all", top-down mandates about how local governments must require ESA compliance. Nor will FEMA allow credit for existing regulatory floodplain programs and habitat restoration projects. FEMA will expect local governments to implement these new standards, so local government should be directly and substantially involved in their development. In addition, local governments do not have the resources for implementation of these standards yet will be held responsible for insufficient administration of this program.

TTY Oregon Relay Service

David Yamamoto, Chair

Erin D. Skaar, Vice-Chair

Mary Faith Bell, Commissioner

The consequences of not following this BiOp are extreme... suspension from NFIP, loss of the availability of NFIP policies, and no consideration for disaster relief funding. In addition, local governments will be faced with issues of property takings and inverse condemnation claims. The expense of defending against these claims will be financially devastating to local government and will ultimately undermine participation of the NFIP. Equally worrisome, many of the program changes that FEMA has signaled will become mandatory, are inconsistent with existing Oregon land use priorities and programs and threaten the viability of many of our communities. FEMA has never been a regulatory agency, yet this BiOp mandates they become one.

Implementation of this BiOp has hung like a cloud over the head of Oregon communities for 6 years, with counties and property owners unsure of what rules apply to their communities, and of the potential consequences of proceeding with projects now that FEMA or NMFS may deem violations later. Farmers, in particular, are concerned that implementation of the restrictions set forth in the BiOp will be the final nail in the coffin of their viability.

FEMA now says that it will start a NEPA process to evaluate the environmental impacts of the latest implementation plan. This process will almost certainly take another three to five years, all the while counties are left wondering about the potential consequences and hampered in their ability to plan for their futures. At the same time, FEMA has started a parallel effort at the national level that seems likely to lead to wholly different results than what has been threatened in Oregon.

We need your help. Please add or support language in the December Omnibus bill that will delay the implementation of this BiOp in Oregon until the national approach is resolved. Congressman DeFazio has been a champion on this issue, but we need additional support. We also need your help asking FEMA and NMFS to allow NFIP participating communities – the cities and counties that FEMA will expect to implement the results of their planning – to participate directly and continuously in the development of any nationwide approach to integrating the ESA into the NFIP. Otherwise – as is the case with the Oregon BiOp – FEMA and NMFS will once again develop a plan that does not work for the communities that are required to implement it. The NFIP is unique amongst federal environmental programs. While the insurance program is operated federally, the burden of implementing the NFIP's development regulations is put on local planners whose jurisdictions participate in the NFIP. This is a unique circumstance which warrants a unique approach.

Please help us to remove the cloud created by the Oregon NFIP BiOp over our heads.

Sincerely,

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS FOR TILLAMOOK COUNTY, OREGON

RE: Sand Lake Recreation Area 2023-2025 ATV Grant Project Proposal for Operations and Maintenance

Dear ATV Committee Members,

The Tillamook County Board of Commissioners wish to express support for Oregon State Parks and Recreation ATV grant funding towards the safe operations of the Sand Lake Recreation Area.

The Sand Lake Recreation area draws many local, Pacific Northwest, and international visitors. We appreciate the collaborative relationship between the Siuslaw National Forest, Hebo Ranger District, and our Tillamook County Sheriff and Public Works Departments to provide emergency services and to improve local county roads. The opportunities for visitors to enjoy the Sand Lake Recreation Area's beautiful estuary and sand dune environments, increases the welcoming nature of Tillamook County.

Thank you for considering the continuation of ATV grant funding for the Sand Lake Recreation Area. Our local businesses greatly benefit from the recreational resource these public lands provide. Plus, the wellness activities and access to nature experienced at the Sand Lake Recreation Area as part of everyday living, align with the values of Tillamook County.
