On March 11, 2013, our e-books site Library2Go was updated with a new, easier-to-use interface and streamlined checkout.

In addition, the Overdrive Read format now allows you to read some e-books in your web browser, eliminating the need for extra software and making the process even easier. Please visit the e-books tab on our website (www.tillabook.org) for instructions.

National Poetry Month

It's National Poetry Month! Browse for your favorite poets in the 811 section of the nonfiction area at your local library branch. Check out some poetry by the 19th national Poet Laureate, Natasha Trethewey, or Oregon's own Poet Laureate, Paulann Petersen. Or write a haiku or another poem of your own.

Shifting in Fiction and Mystery at Main

We've made some small changes to the fiction section at the Tillamook County Library recently. The general fiction and mystery sections now have some room to grow. Westerns and science fiction/fantasy have each moved one row to the East. Please ask a librarian for help locating your favorite authors.

Bay City Salmon Release

The Bay City Library salmon were successfully released into a local stream last month. We want to thank the 30 or so people who braved the drizzle and came along to help us release the fish.

Branch of the Month

The first library in Manzanita was founded in 1947. It was located in a small room in the Community Club, sponsored by the Manzanita Women's Club. The Women's Club and the City of Manzanita shared the library's financial responsibilities and met needs of the community for many years. In the early 1980s, an anonymous donation of $1,000 sparked interest in building a larger library to serve the needs of the growing community.

It took years of planning, organizing and fundraising to make the dream a reality. In 1987 the current library on Laneda Avenue was built and dedicated. Countless residents and committees joined forces during the process, providing a testament to what determination and community pride can envision and achieve. Local architect Tom Bender donated his services and helped apply for a successful federal grant.

Today, the Manzanita Library remains a bright spot in the community and the North Tillamook Library Friends are active in making sure the library keeps up with future needs. Stop in to see Charlotte, Peg or Brian the next time you are in Manzanita!
