

Virtual Community Listening Session

The Tillamook County Library is developing its strategic plan for the next 5 years. Between January and March, the library will be hosting community engagement events to hear what you would like to see from your library in the coming years. These efforts will result in a new strategic plan in July 2023, building on our existing services.

This virtual strategic planning event will take place on Wednesday, March 8th from 7:00pm to 8:00pm.

Join Library Director Don Allgeier for a brief overview of the library's strategic planning process followed by a listening session to provide community members with an opportunity to shape the future of their library. To register for a session please call us (503) 842-4792. Limit of 14 registered spots per session.

Oregon Humanities Conversation Project

We're excited to announce that we are hosting the Oregon Humanities Conversation Project: Housing and Belonging with Paul Susi!

Housing and homelessness is a visible and divisive issue in local media, in politics, and across different communities within our state. Many of us were experiencing housing instability and economic uncertainty even during the “boom” times before the current crisis. This conversation will explore common assumptions and perspectives about the experience of houselessness/homelessness and seek to answer the question, How do we decide who “belongs” in our community?

Paul Susi is a theater artist, social services professional, educator, and community activist born and raised in Portland. From 2015 to 2020, Paul worked as a lead shelter host, shift supervisor, and ultimately manager for six successive Transition Projects shelters, specializing in opening and establishing best practices for new emergency homeless shelters throughout the Portland area. In March of 2018, Paul was recognized as a RACC Juice Award honoree for outstanding contributions to the performing arts community. In the fall of 2018 and again in 2019, Paul toured a production of Denis O’Hare’s An Iliad to more than twenty different prisons, schools, community centers, and religious communities—the first time a touring performance succeeded in knitting together these unique constituencies throughout this state. Paul currently works as a site supervisor for the Outdoor School with the Multnomah Education Service District, where he goes by the camp name “Badger.”

Join us for this conversation at the Tillamook Main Library on Saturday, March 11th at 3:00pm. Registration is required for this event. Please RSVP by calling us at (503) 842-4792.
